- ◆ 7:00 PM STATIONS OF THE CROSS

This is a true story: A group of soldiers was sitting around the barracks letting off steam. The talk swung around to religion and faith. One soldier, a fallen-away

Catholic, claimed he no longer believed in confession. His buddies dared him to go to the Catholic chaplain and make a mockery of the sacrament, to prove he didn't believe in it anymore. So he went to the confessional, knelt down, and began. I have taken the Lord's name in vain a hundred times a day, and I couldn't care less. I haven't been to Mass in years and I couldn't care less. He pretty much went through all the commandments the same way. When the guy was through, the priest said: For your penance, put a crucifix on a table and then, looking at the crucifix say, "You died for me, and I couldn't care less." Say that five times.

When the soldier came out of the chapel, his buddies were waiting for him. They laughed and jeered asking what had happened. He laughed back and told them all about it. They were enjoying themselves and insisted that he do the "penance", since that was part of confession, and the dare had been to do a full confession.

So they pulled up a table and put a crucifix on it, and the soldier sat down and looked at it, surrounded by his buddies. But all he could say was, 'You died for me...He tried and tried, but he just couldn't get himself to add, 'and I couldn't care less.'

Tears welled up in his eyes. Finally, he got up and ran back to the chapel to make a real confession.

On this first Sunday of Lent Jesus goes out into the desert to face the Accuser—that's what the word Devil means. The desert, because of the conditions one finds in a place like that, is a place where one is forced to make a decision. The desert is a place of utter poverty and therefore, potentially, of heroic trust in God. If we see desert as a metaphor, we see how we have to make a decision in life—give in to the "comforts" the evil spirit is offering (food, power, possessions) or surrender to the mercy of God's providence. In other words, learn to trust in God and have confidence in what he did to save us, and know how much he loves us!

As we begin this Season of Lent, take some time to realize what the Cross really means. None of us could ever image ourselves saying: "You died for me, and I couldn't care less". Yet, we could very well be saying it in other ways—by how we're living our lives, by the decisions that we make, by how we unconsciously hurt other people, by how we allow ourselves to see things from only our own perspective.

So, perhaps we can gaze in a crucifix, and instead of saying "I couldn't care less", maybe we can say something more like "Help me to see that your love for me is more than I can ever imagine."

This Lent, we go into the desert, stripped of all the things that might be getting in the way of our relationship with Christ. In the desert we see nothing but our own weakness and we decide where we will seek the help we so dearly need. Will it be by focusing on the false hope offered by the "Accuser" which gives only momentary comfort, or will we, in the face of our poverty, heroically rely on our trust in God?

Lent is a perfect time to take an inventory of your spiritual life

Lent presents to us a unique time of the year when we are invited to look inside ourselves and at our spiritual lives, discovering the good and bad that is there.

If we are to be completely honest with ourselves, we will notice many areas that need growth and improvement. This can often be difficult for us, as we may not always want to see our faults and failings.

However, it is important to take a spiritual inventory during Lent, as it gives us an opportunity to reconcile ourselves with God.

Pope Benedict XVI recommended this practice in his message for Lent in 2011.

"The Lenten journey, in which we are invited to contemplate the Mystery of the Cross, is meant to reproduce within us "the pattern of his death" (Ph 3: 10), so as to effect a deep conversion in our lives; that we may be transformed by the action of the Holy Spirit, like St. Paul on the road to Damascus; that we may firmly orient our existence according to the will of God; that we may be freed of our egoism, overcoming the instinct to dominate others and opening us to the love of Christ. The Lenten period is a favorable time to recognize our weakness and to accept, through a sincere inventory of our life, the renewing Grace of the Sacrament of Penance, and walk resolutely towards Christ."

For some of us, this spiritual inventory will be more difficult to endure, as we already know our weaknesses and fear that more light upon our sins will lead us into despair.

The good news is that God reaches out to us in his mercy, ready to accept us into his loving arms. We need not be afraid of our failings, as God is ready to pick us up and set us on the right path.

PRAYER AGAINST TEMPTATION

Holy Spirit, come to my aid.
Lord, over and over again I fall into the same temptations; I am slow to learn your ways.
I am disheartened; I recall my resolves to never again do what I keep doing.
Give me strength to carry my cross, accept your will, and follow your way.
Revitalize me with your good news and offer me courage in this moment.
Amen.

March 9: St. Frances of Rome (1384-1440)

Frances' life combines aspects of secular and religious life. A devoted and loving wife, she longed for a lifestyle of prayer and service, so she organized a group of women to minister to the needs of Rome's poor.

Born of wealthy parents, Frances found herself attracted to the religious life during her youth. But her parents objected and a young nobleman was selected to be her husband. As she became acquainted with her new relatives, Frances soon discovered that the wife of her husband's brother also wished to live a life of service and prayer. So the two, Frances and Vannoza, set out together—with their husbands' blessings—to help the poor. Frances fell ill for a time, but this apparently only deepened her commitment to the suffering people she met. The years passed, and Frances gave birth to two sons and a daughter. With the new responsibilities of family life, the young mother turned her attention more to the needs of her own household.

The family flourished under Frances' care, but within a few years a great plague began to sweep across Italy. It struck Rome with devastating cruelty and left Frances' second son dead. In an effort to help alleviate some of the suffering, Frances used all her money and sold her possessions to buy whatever the sick might possibly need. When all the resources had been exhausted, Frances and Vannoza went door to door begging. Later, Frances' daughter died, and the saint opened a section of her house as a hospital. Frances became more and more convinced that this way of life was so necessary for the world, and it was not long before she requested and was given permission to found a society of women bound by no vows. They simply offered themselves to God and to the service of the poor. Once the society was established, Frances chose not to live at the community residence, but rather at home with her husband. She did this for seven years, until her husband passed away, and then came to live the remainder of her life with the society—serving the poorest of the poor. Looking at the exemplary life of fidelity to God and devotion to her fellow human beings which Frances of Rome was blessed to lead, one cannot help but be reminded of Saint Teresa of Calcutta, who loved Jesus Christ in prayer and also in the poor. The life of Frances of Rome calls each of us not only to look deeply for God in prayer, but also to carry our devotion to Jesus living in the suffering of our world. Frances shows us that this life need not be restricted to those bound by vows.
