VOTE THE GOSPEL

Election Day is Tuesday, November 5, all Catholics are encouraged to vote.

A message from the Archbishop:

As American citizens we hold a precious right to elect the persons who will govern and serve our communities. It comes with a personal responsibility to cast our votes with fully formed consciences.

The teachings of the Catholic Church offer all citizens a path for living daily life with dignity, and a guide for Catholics to live out the values of our faith through civic engagement.

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) has updated its extensive teaching document Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship/Table of Contents | USCCB. In a clear and useful way, it addresses a broad range of societal issues. I encourage Catholics to consider it thoughtfully.

Our great nation and its people have faced daunting challenges in recent years. It's imperative that we make our voices heard on Election Day. Approaching the polls with informed minds and formed consciences allows us to remain true to our principles while working to build up a just society.

Please join me in praying for all those seeking elected office at the local, state, and federal levels. May God grant them the wisdom necessary to govern with charity and grace in a manner that promotes liberty and justice for all.

*Most Reverend Nelson J. Pérez, D.D.
Archbishop of Philadelphia*

Sanctuary Flowers

Flowers presented at the Crucifix and the Blessed Mother Statue ~

for a Special Intention

from Maria Gatmaitan

Louis wasn't sleeping at night. He couldn't get his mind to "turn off". And going through his head were all his worries: about his business in this struggling economy, his eldest daughter and her struggles with the social life at high school and the difficulties that social media were causing for her. Then there was his wife's cancer treatments. They were wearing her out. Hopefully there would be a longer break before the next round began.

What was hard for Louis was that in the past he had always been able to solve everyone's problems. He prided himself on being just that, a problem-solver. But this past year and a half he seemed to be losing his touch! And that's what was keeping him up all night—trying to figure out what he should do.

Louis was friendly with the priest at his parish, and one Sunday after Mass he went up to him to say hello. Father Rich said, "Lou, you look tired. Are you doing ok?" So, Louis started to share all that had been going on and how he was at a loss as to what he should do. And the priest said to him, "Maybe what you're being asked to do is nothing. I know for a problem-solver and a planner like you, to be told to do nothing is like a sentence of death. But maybe in all of this God is really doing you a favor. He's trying to teach you something here, I think. Why don't you try leaving all these things in God's hands and even praying a little more or even getting to Mass more than just on Sundays. You'd be surprised what God will do for you if you just give him the time."

So, Louis did just that. He tried to get to Mass during the week and he kept praying that he would have the grace to let go and leave these issues in God's hands. And gradually he found that he was sleeping better at night.

We've heard the familiar story of Bartimaeus. What drew him to Jesus? It was the realization that he needed help, that he couldn't handle his problems on his own anymore. For whatever reason he was at the point where all he could do was to simply cry out for help—"Son of David, have pity on me."

Father Walter Ciszek, SJ, whose cause is now up for canonization, wrote this:

"Every moment of our life has a purpose, every action of ours, no matter how dull or routine or trivial it may seem in itself, has a dignity and a worth beyond human understanding. No man's life is insignificant—no matter what the world or his neighbors or family or friends may think of them."

There was a purpose in Louis coming to the realization that he needed help—that he couldn't handle all his problems by himself. He was learning that God didn't want him to be the problem-solver as much as he wanted Louis to slow down and rely on Him.

I believe that Christ is also trying to share this same message with many of us. There's a lot to worry about. Sometimes just some time in prayer, and the grace of the sacrament of Jesus' presence in the Eucharist, is what we need to calm our racing minds and hearts. Just remember that every moment of your life has a purpose. So, say Bartimaeus' prayer—"Son of David, have pity on me." Let Christ be the problem-solver and the source of strength to live a life of interior peace, even though the storm may be swirling around you!

Join us on Saturday morning, December 7th, as we encounter and extend our friendship to those in need in Philadelphia. We will support others with prayer intentions and will feed the homeless.

Our day will begin with Mass at 8:00 am at St. John Neumann church.

After, we will meet for donuts when we'll also be given guidance for the day ahead. Then we will depart for our mission!

This month, as we remember all souls who have gone before us, we encourage you to offer your daily actions in support of those who are in Purgatory.

Eternal Father,

By virtue of your generosity and love, I ask that you accept all my actions and that you multiply their value in favor of every soul in Purgatory.

Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

A presentation & panelist discussion on Attraction to Infinity: God at the Ritz

Having served as a consultant for a PBS documentary on John Paul II, Albacete was invited to the Ritz Carleton in Pasadena for the show's premiere. There at the bar, the pool, and in the lobby the nation's TV critics confronted Albacete with intelligent, sincere questions about life's "ultimate issues" — catholiceducation.org

Lorenzo Albacete, a close friend of Pope John Paul II, physicist, and New York Times columnist, shows that religion has a place amid conversations on science and contemporary culture. With humor and honesty, Albacete answers questions about life and death,
good and evil, science and religion, religion and politics, and other issues.

Our 'spiritual baby' has been conceived! Each month we will highlight a trimester of our baby's journey in the womb.

We'll follow his/her journey until the Bake Sale, February 8-9. Our baby will be 'born' on Saturday evening of the Bake Sale, when a parishioner will reveal whether it's a boy or girl. Then all parishioners will vote on his/her name!

Conception & our initial growth!

At Conception we are small but mighty!

We're very, very small and not looking like our future selves yet... but we are human beings!

At the moment of conception our human DNA, our own personal blueprint, is put in place. We are a new person, already inscribed with our physical traits, our intellect, and our personality!

Though we start as a one-cell human, we quickly begin adding bulk and developing form: one cell becomes two, two become four... and very soon we start looking more familiar.

At no time in life will we grow faster than while we're in the womb.

How to Win an Argument Without Losing a Soul

Whether you're arguing with family members or Facebook friends, skeptical co-workers in the office or pushy proselytizers at your front door, it helps to have not only the facts but the skills for presenting your points forcefully and well. Matt Fradd equips you with the powers of argumentation you need to be an effective debater and the right attitude for doing it with charity, humility, and patience.

The Problem of Evil

If God is all-good and all-powerful, then why is there evil? In The Problem with Evil, Jimmy Akin tackles this most difficult of apologetics questions. He builds a biblical and philosophical case for understanding how God's perfections are not disproved by the existence of evil, but in fact allow for a world in which pain and sin may be mysteriously ordered by Providence towards a greater good.

In Persona Christi: The Catholic Priesthood

The Catholic priesthood comes to us from Jesus Christ. Building on this pattern of priesthood from old Testament times, Jesus chose twelve men to act in His place as priests of the new and everlasting covenant. This film explores the essential nature and theology of the sacred priesthood, the importance of a deep prayer life, the centrality of the Mass and Eucharistic Adoration, devotion to the Blessed Virgin, priestly fatherhood and celibacy, and the necessity of a missionary zeal.
