Angela had a hard time falling asleep. Eventually she did, but then woke up before the alarm went off. She tried to get back to sleep, but she just couldn't. All of her worries were washing over her like a tidal wave, and the more she tried to say Hail, Marys and Our Fathers, the more the worries seemed to drown out the words of those prayers.

Angela was in her mid-sixties, but she was still in pretty good health. She tried to take care of herself by eating right and getting some sensible exercise most days. But the one thing she just couldn't get a handle on was her anxiety. The minute she was thrown a curve ball in her life, or faced a trial of some sort, she would go into panic mode. She would start predicting the future, and in this process, would paint the worst picture possible of what could happen. Then she would convince herself that this was what was going to happen, and she would be filled with fear.

I know that many of us feel anxious and fearful at certain times in our life. Our response to these trials is to get lost in ourselves and be overwhelmed by fear. So, the question is this: How do we endure trials?

The point is often made that it's hard to keep one's trust in God while suffering. Jesus on the Cross pronounced the words, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?" Was this a lack of trust on Jesus' part? It was no lack of trust, because Jesus' words are in fact the opening words of Psalm 21. This psalm expresses great distress but ends on a magnificent note of hope:

For God has not despised or abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; and he has not hidden his face from him, but has heard, when he cried to him...

So, as we celebrate the great joy of Easter, how can we face up to the trials, the anxiety, in our life?

First of all: don't be afraid. Don't be afraid of life or the difficulties that we may have to face. In the end, every trial, no matter what its causes and characteristics are, is a trial of faith or of hope or of love.

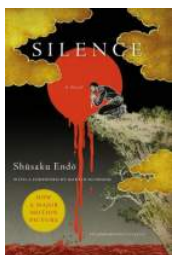

Faith: We often wonder what God is doing in all of this, and we ask, does he really love me or care about me? Is he present in what I'm living through? One of my favorite spiritual writers, Jacques Philippe writes: "We are invited to respond by deciding to have faith: 'I believe! I continue to trust God! Even though I can't see, even though I don't feel anything, even though appearances are against it, I decide to believe. I believe that God is faithful, that he will not let me fall, that he can draw something positive out of everything that is happening to me.'"

Hope: The question comes up: what do we rely on? What are we counting on? What is our security based on? In whom do we place our hope? Here the invitation is this: I'm counting on the Lord, I'm expecting help from him...I will do my part, but I will abandon myself into God's hands.

Love: Perhaps our relationship with Christ is in crisis or our relationship with our spouse or a friend. Maybe there's a problem with how we see ourselves. Here the invitation is to pray, even when you don't feel like praying. Maybe there's an opportunity for us to be purified, maybe we are called to some type of conversion—to a truer and purer love.

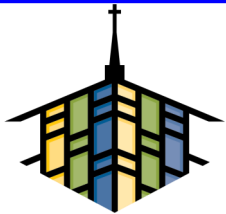

Jesus Christ has risen from the dead. The darkness is dispelled by the light of Jesus who says, "Let me free you from the places in your life where you feel trapped, or afraid, or lost and confused. Take my hand and follow me toward greater faith, hope and love. I will give you the

Silence: A Novel — by Shūsaku Endō

A bestselling classic novel of enduring faith in dangerous times. Seventeenth-century Japan: Two Portuguese Jesuit priests travel to a country hostile to their religion, where feudal lords force the faithful to publicly renounce their beliefs. Eventually captured and forced to watch their Japanese Christian brothers lay down their lives for their faith, the priests bear witness to unimaginable cruelties that test their own beliefs. Shūsaku Endō is one of the most celebrated and well-known Japanese fiction writers of the twentieth century; Silence is widely considered to be his great masterpiece.

CELEBRATING OUR FAITH,
Embracing our Future

Visit sjnparish.org/campaign

Celebrating Our Faith, Embracing Our Future

In this holy season, we ask that our St. John Neumann community continue praying our campaign prayer. For our Celebrating Our Faith, Embracing Our Future campaign to be successful we must express our gratitude to God for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us. Please join us in praying for the success of our campaign by praying our campaign prayer daily and thank God for all He has given us.

As you contemplate your commitment, please remember Jesus' story of the widow's offering at the temple in Mark 12: 41-44. After watching the widow place two small coins, worth very little, into the offering, Jesus called together his disciples and said: "Truly I tell you, this poor widow has put more into the treasury than all the others. They all gave out of their wealth; but she, out of her poverty, put in everything—all she had to live on."

FROM THE EASTER PROCLAMATION (THE EXULTET)

This is the night, when Christ broke the prison-bars of death and rose victorious from the underworld.

Our birth would have been no gain,
had we not been redeemed.

O wonder of your humble care for us!
O love, O charity beyond all telling,
to ransom a slave you gave away your Son!

O truly necessary sin of Adam, destroyed completely by the Death of Christ!

O happy fault that earned so great,
so glorious a Redeemer!

The Easter Proclamation is sung at the Easter Vigil; it is an ancient hymn of praise. By the Middle Ages, the text we now know became the standard hymn for the Easter Vigil in the West.

The deacon (or priest, or lay cantor) intones one of the most evocative and poetic hymns of praise in all liturgy; its symbolic movement is from darkness to light. The words and music praise and thank God for what the light represents: God's saving activity throughout human history, culminating in Christ's defeat of death and resurrection from the dead.

Salvation history is recounted, especially God's deliverance of his Chosen People from Egyptian slavery and exile. It recalls the Passover Feast. The candle before the assembly is likened to the pillar of fire which guided Israel in its desert journey. Their miraculous passage through the Red Sea serves as both a sign of deliverance and as a prefiguring of the waters of Baptism. Having recalled key moments of the Old Covenant, the New Covenant between God and humanity is proclaimed eloquently in terms of the brilliant Light of Christ dispelling the darkness of sin and death for all time.

EASTER PRAYER

Almighty God, we rejoice today in the glorious resurrection of your Son, Jesus Christ, who has conquered death and opened the gates of eternal life for us. May we be filled with hope and joy, knowing that through his resurrection, we too can rise to new life. Help us to live in the light of his love and to follow his example, so that we may one day share in his eternal glory. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Seek Guidance and Strength:
