At the beginning of the Easter Vigil there are words spoken as the Paschal Candle is being prepared.

These words can easily get lost in the activity that is taking place outside church around the Easter fire. So here are the words again; they are spoken as the priest is tracing the cross and the four numerals of the current year:

Christ yesterday and today
the Beginning and the End the Alpha and the Omega

All time belongs to him

and all the ages

To him be glory and power through every age and for ever. Amen.

All time belongs to him. All time belongs to Christ! Time: for one person, a precious gift; for someone else, a terrible burden; We know too well what can happen in the space of a year or a moment. Sickness can overtake the world. Falling in love may dramatically rearrange our priorities. Disappointment or loss drops us down a well of despair. An act of sudden kindness restores our hope.

All time belongs to him.

If time belongs to Christ, then we must learn to trust in him. And think of what it is that the Risen Christ has accomplished for us!

Death is turned into new life.

What does that mean for us? Well, think of it this way: Time lost has been regained. The time we have spent grieving our sins, fueling our anger, harboring our resentments, mourning our losses, reliving our regrets can be changed to time lived in patience, thankfulness, perseverance, charity, joy and hope.

For some of us events may have tested our faith and made us question a lot of things. And maybe in the stress of daily life we have been looking at the whole course of our life and the way we have spent “our time”. This Easter, as we turn to the Resurrected Christ, we are asked to remember that “all time belongs to him—to Christ”.

Because Christ has risen from the dead we can live in trust and hope and learn to “spend our time” differently than we have been spending it. We’re grateful that Christ is the healer of yesterday, with its broken dreams and confused loyalties; the healer of words uttered in haste that can’t be unspoken.

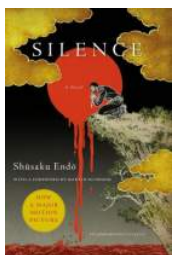

Our Easter joy helps us to acknowledge that Christ is present at the start and end of every journey. Through Christ we can regain the true path.

All time belongs to him, and all the ages...

And because of this time becomes an ocean of possibility, so we must seek its consecration, making the future a holy destination to which we can all travel together.

Silence: A Novel — by Shūsaku Endō

A bestselling classic novel of enduring faith in dangerous times.

Seventeenth-century Japan: Two Portuguese Jesuit priests travel to a country hostile to their religion, where feudal lords force the faithful to publicly renounce their beliefs. Eventually captured and forced to watch their Japanese Christian brothers lay down their lives for their faith, the priests bear witness to unimaginable cruelties that test their own beliefs. Shūsaku Endō is one of the most celebrated and well-known Japanese fiction writers of the twentieth century; Silence is widely considered to be his great masterpiece.

At the Beginning of the Day

O God,
I find myself at the beginning of another day.
I do not know what it will bring.
Please help me to be ready for whatever it may be.

If I am to stand up, help me to stand bravely.
If I am to sit still, help me to sit quietly.
If I am to lie low, help me to do it patiently.
If I am to do nothing, let me do it gallantly.

I pray just for today, for these twenty-four hours, for the ability to cooperate with others according to the way Jesus taught us to live.
"Your kingdom come, your will be done on earth as it is in heaven." May these words that he taught us become more than words.

Please free my thinking and feelings and the thinking and feelings of others, from all forms of self-will, self-centeredness, dishonesty, and deception.

Along with my brothers and sisters, I need this freedom to make my choices today according to your desires.
Send your Spirit to inspire me in time of doubt and indecision so that, together, we can walk along your path.

Apr. 28: St. Peter Chanel, Priest and Martyr (1803-1841)

St. Peter Chanel was born in France in 1803. As a child, he became fascinated by the lives of missionaries. After becoming a priest, Peter joined the Marists, a new order that emphasized missionary work. He initially spent five years as a spiritual director before leaving for the Canary Islands for mission work in 1837. Next, Peter briefly went to Chile, then the Gambier Islands and Tahiti. He ended his journey at the island Futuna where he lived the last four years of his life learning a new language and teaching the faith to the people of the island. When the chieftain's son asked to be baptized, St. Peter Chanel was clubbed to death. Shortly after his death, almost the entire island was converted to Christianity. St. Peter was canonized in 1954 by Pope Pius XII. Today he is recognized as a protomartyr and patron saint of Oceania.

You may have heard of him, the sneaker-wearing, computer-loving "gamer saint" of our time. But beyond the headlines and hashtags, the real story of Carlo is something deeper, something the world desperately needs to hear. Known for his deep love of God, devotion to the Eucharist, and quiet acts of charity, Carlo's life was a testament to everyday holiness.

Apr. 29: St. Catherine of Siena

St. Catherine of Siena was a 14th century lay Italian known for being one of the most influential women in the history of the papacy. In the 1370s, she helped negotiate the return of the pope to Rome from Avignon, and then tried to stabilize the Church at the beginning of the Western Schism. Catherine was trusted and respected by the popes for her understanding of Church politics and the importance of the pope. She is also remembered for her mystical theology and writings, with The Dialogue of Divine Providence still popular today. St. Catherine of Siena is a Doctor of the Church and Pope John Paul II named her a co-patron saint of Europe.

May 1: St. Joseph the Worker

To foster deep devotion to Saint Joseph among Catholics, and in response to the "May Day" celebrations for workers sponsored by Communists, Pope Pius XII instituted the feast of Saint Joseph the Worker in 1955. This feast extends the long relationship between Joseph and the cause of workers in both Catholic faith and devotion. Beginning in the Book of Genesis, the dignity of human work has long been celebrated as a participation in the creative work of God. By work, humankind both fulfills the command found in Genesis to care for the earth (Gn 2:15) and to be productive in their labors. Saint Joseph, the carpenter and foster father of Jesus, is but one example of the holiness of human labor.

Jesus, too, was a carpenter. He learned the trade from Saint Joseph and spent his early adult years working side-by-side in Joseph's carpentry shop before leaving to pursue his ministry as preacher and healer. In his encyclical Laborem Exercens, Pope John Paul II stated: "the Church considers it her task always to call attention to the dignity and rights of those who work, to condemn situations in which that dignity and those rights are violated, and to help to guide [social] changes so as to ensure authentic progress by man and society."

Saint Joseph is held up as a model of such work. Pius XII emphasized this when he said, "The spirit flows to you and to all men from the heart of the God-man, Savior of the world, but certainly, no worker was ever more completely and profoundly penetrated by it than the foster father of Jesus, who lived with Him in closest intimacy and community of family life and work."

To capture the devotion to Saint Joseph within the Catholic liturgy, in 1870, Pope Pius IX declared Saint Joseph the patron of the universal Church. In 1955, Pope Pius XII added the feast of Saint Joseph the Worker. This silent saint, who was given the noble task of caring and watching over the Virgin Mary and Jesus, now cares for and watches over the Church and models for all the dignity of human work.
